

fluorochemical excellence
shaping the future

Agrochemicals

Fluoride compounds such as potassium fluoride with high selectivity to replace chloride ions are used as preferred fluorine source to include fluoride atoms in complex organic compounds that significantly enhance their effectiveness in pesticides, insecticides and herbicides. Sodium silicofluoride is also used as an active ingredient in cutworm pesticide and in formulations to combat termite species.